

TABLE OF CONTENTS

Foreword	4
Introduction	7
Introduction to 2nd edition 2010	10
Chapter 1: Flying America's Ice Age Coast, 1960s-70s	11
Juneau to Cape Spencer	11
The Outside Coast	14
The Copper River Delta and Prince William Sound	21
Approach to Anchorage	25
Chapter 2: First Years in Alaska, 1949-51	31
McKinley Park Adventure, 1950	31
Summer Ranger	34
University of Alaska	39
Chapter 3: Discovering the Fish and Wildlife Service, 1951-60	47
Becoming a Fish Hawk	47
Old Fairbanks	54
The Alaska Game Commission	56
Fairbanks Game Warden	59
Trapline Patrols	62
Other Patrols	69
The Alaska Game Commission Winds Up	75
Chapter 4: Flying, 1953-86	83
Learning to Fly	83
Airplanes I Flew	90
Theron Smith's Assessment of the Aircraft Division	100
Chapter 5: Waterfowl Banding, 1955-80	108
Some History of Bird Banding	108
Tetlin Banding	111
Second Try at Tetlin	114
Yukon Flats Banding and the Rampart Dam Project	117
Takslesluk Lake	123
Goose Banding on the Koyukuk	126
Goose Banding on the North Slope	131
Chapter 6: Refuge Manager, Yukon Delta/Bering Sea Islands, 1962-64	147
Changing Course	147
Edward W. Nelson, Pioneer Conservationist	149
Clarence J. Rhode and the Yukon Delta	150
Building a Refuge Headquarters	154
Exploring My Refuge and Settling in at Bethel	159

Muskox Hunt	163
Refuge Spring	165
Managing a New Refuge	168
Conservation Education	171
Chapter 7: Waterfowl Breeding Pair Survey, 1956–85	181
The Why and How of Duck Surveys	181
First Duck Surveys with Hank Hansen	184
Becoming Waterfowl Supervisor	192
The Annual Breeding Pair Duck Survey – First Week	195
Annual Survey, Second Week, Western Alaska	199
Annual Survey, Third Week, Northern Alaska	206
Annual Survey, Last Two Days	212
Survey Wrap Up	217
One Last Breeding Pair Survey: the Mackenzie River Basin	221
Chapter 8: Bald Eagle Studies, 1966–67	233
Surveying Admiralty Island	233
Eagle Management	237
The American Bald Eagle Research Institute	241
Chapter 9: Seabirds, 1965–93	247
Learning About Seabirds	247
The Udall Letter	251
Making Speeches Advocating for Seabirds	253
Air Surveys at Sea	256
Breaking Ice	260
The Pacific Seabird Group	265
Finally a Real Seabird Program	268
Chapter 10: Wild Swans, 1950–2006	278
Discovering Trumpeter Swans	278
Trumpeter Swan Census	280
The Trumpeter Swan Society	283
Restoring Trumpeters	286
Adventure on Lynn Canal	288
The Cordova Flood of 1981	290
Swan Migration through Interior Alaska	293
Flying With the Swans	295
Tundra Swans on Yukon Delta and Bill Sladen Discovers Us	299
Tundra Swans on the Arctic Slope	302
Mapping Tundra Swan Nests in the Arctic Oil Fields	307
Life in Alaska’s Arctic Oil Fields	309
The Future of Wild Swans in North America	315

Chapter 11: The Joy of Promoting Refuges, Parks and Trails, 1966–2006	325
Cape Newenham and Yukon Flats National Wildlife Refuges	325
Alaska National Interest Lands, the Washington Trip	329
State Refuges and Parks	334
City and Borough of Juneau (CBI) Parks	339
Seaweed and the Trails	346
Other Conservation Organizations	349
Chapter 12: The Family Bird Farm, 1965–95	360
Koog and Tina	360
We Acquire a Homestead	365
The Need for a Bird Farm	367
Alaska Swans At Sunny Point	371
Juneau’s Canada Geese	379
Raising Canada Geese	381
Alaska’s Emperor Geese	386
Raising Emperors	389
Other Birds We Hosted	392
The Bird Farm – An Evaluation	394
Chapter 13: Pensioned But Not Retired, 1983–2006	406
Rehired Annuitant with FWS	406
University of Alaska, Southeast	411
Alaska Historical Society	413
Contributions to Conservation Organizations	415
Chapter 14: Summing Up, 2007	421
How It Was	421
What I Don’t Like	422
So What Is It I Do Like?	423
Hopeful Opportunities	425
Finally	428
Addendum	430
References	432
List of Acronyms	439
Index	441
A Little Atlas of Alaska Maps	466