

David Hancock

Biography.

Biologist, conservationist, writer, publisher and lecturer, David Hancock, spent most of his life studying the west coast and arctic wildlife. He has published scientific and popular papers on whales, seals, seabirds, grouse and his speciality, the northern raptors, as well as producing films on these topics and the Haida and other northern natives.

He recently completed several books: The Bald Eagles of Alaska, BC and Washington, Rocky Mountain Wildlife and The Tlingit: their Art & Culture. Under development he has books on: Alaska - Yukon Wildflowers, EcoTourism of the NorthWest and one on The Living Glacier.

Currently he is undertaking studies of the bald eagles along the NW coast and working on a Sandhill Crane project. Prior to starting Hancock House Publisher he was a pilot and wildlife film producer – again specializing on the native cultures and wildlife of the coast and north. His studies and travels have taken him to all continents of the world. Most recently he was responsible for world wide acclaim given to the “Live Bald Eagle Streaming Video Cam. His current study on The Urban Bald Eagle of Vancouver BC has turned up over 150 nesting pairs in the greater Vancouver area.

David Hancock is an enthusiastic and dynamic lecturer and has a fine collection of slides to illustrate a number of current themes. These include:

The Alaska / NW Series of Lectures:

The Incredible Bald Eagle
Whales of the North Pacific
West Coast Wildlife.
The NW Native Art & Culture
The Tlingits: the Alaskan Indians.
The Living Glacier
History of the Gold Rush of '98

The South America / Antarctica Series:

Wildlife of the Southern Seas
Whales of the Antarctic Waters
Penguins – the Little People of the Ice.
Antarctic Glaciers - are they disappearing?
History of Antarctic Exploration
Driving Home from Antarctica! Ushuaia - BA
Australia's weird and wonderful wildlife.

David Hancock frequently addresses conservation societies on the conservation and creation of better bald eagle habitat, the Turacos of the World, the Grouse of the World, Arctic Adventures, An African Photo Safari: these are but a few of his pet topics.

As a publisher – writer/photographer for 40 years he is also called upon to lecture on:

Getting Published – a writers insight.
The Publishing Industry: background for writers
Non-fiction Writing – the easy way in!
Photo-journalism: Let words sell your photos.

If your group wishes such a lecture please contact:

David Hancock at Phone 800 938-1114,
Fax 800 983-2262 or by
Email: David@hancockwildlife.org
WEB: www.hancockhouse.com